

Important changes to the pregnancy screening programme

Use updated versions of Your guide to screening tests during pregnancy and Ready Steady Baby for women booking on or after 1 June 2016*

- From 1 June 2016, the NHS in Scotland will no longer offer screening during pregnancy for rubella (German measles) susceptibility.
- Please use the updated versions of these booklets for all women booking pregnancies from 1 June 2016 onwards. Look out for 2016 on the cover of Your guide to screening tests during pregnancy and check page 36 of Ready Steady Baby has a sticker covering the out-of-date information.
- Please return any out-of-date booklets to your local health promotion department (contact details overleaf).

For further copies of the updated publications, please contact your local health promotion department (contact details overleaf).
